

Launch your future with a career in Information Technology!

IT Support Specialist

What they do:

Keep computers, networks, and people working. They troubleshoot tech issues, help users with software and devices, and keep systems running smoothly.

Skills that help: Problem-solving, communication, and basic computer knowledge.

Average Salary: $49,770/year

Cybersecurity Specialist

What they do:

Protect systems, networks, and data from hackers. They monitor for threats, respond to attacks, and help organizations stay secure online.

Skills that help: Critical thinking, curiosity, attention to detail, and a love of solving puzzles.

Salary: $112,000/year

Network Specialist

What they do:

Set up and maintain the computer networks that keep organizations connected. They make sure data moves safely and smoothly between devices, servers, and the internet.

Skills that help: Attention to detail, problem-solving, and understanding how systems connect.

Average Salary: $72,000/year

Software Developer

What they do:

Design and build software programs, apps, and games. They write code, test programs, and help bring ideas to life on computers and devices.

Skills that help: Logical thinking, creativity, persistence and design sense.

Average Salary: $120,000/year